Forecast For Northern Ireland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Friday 12 Nov 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Rain soon clearing to brighter spells and showers. Windy.

Today:
Overcast start with periods of mostly light rain across the Province. This soon clears eastwards with a mix of scattered showers and brighter spells reaching all by late morning. Feeling cold in the strong westerly winds. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
Most dry with only a few well scattered and light showers appearing across the country, these largely confined around the northern coastal districts. Strong winds easing gradually. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Saturday:
Dry and bright morning across the east and north, but gradually cloud thickening from the southwest, bringing patchy light rain to Fermanagh towards mid-day, which eventually reaches all early evening. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Sunday cloudy with rain spreading from the west, though this patchy and light for most. Monday mostly dry, bright, but also some patchy rain around. Tuesday brings blustery showers.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.